HEAVY SWELLS MAKE SALVAGE WORKERS QUIT

Impossible For Divers to Go Down to Place Lines on Sunken Submarine Today

Salvage work on the E-4 was not resumed this morning, as had been hoped. The sea was far too rough to permit of either diving or dragging lines, and after waiting for a couple of hours in the hope of smoother water, the divers came ashore. The tug Navajo also returned to her mooring at 10 o'clock.

The swell was so heavy at the spot where the sunken submarine rests that the Navajo's rail was under water several times this morning. All thought of diving was given up and there is little chance of anyone going down this afternoon.

The plan now in force is to send divers down with light lines and reeve heavier wires and finally the big wire and chain lifting cables under the hull. One line was placed under the bow in this manner Sunday, when Divers Nielsen and Drellishak went down.

The divers state that it is hard to see to work, in spite of the fact that the ground swell which runs most of the time stirs the sand up around the boat.

The submarine lies on its starboard side, and the big hole through which the divers entered Saturday and Sunday is more on top of the craft than in the port bow. It is at the place where most of the strain has come in lifting operations. It might be possible to force an entrance into the middle compartment, think the divers, but it would first be necessary to take out a lot of debris and broken gear from the forward compartment, and navy officers fear that if this was done some clue as to what caused the accident might be lost.

MAKINO DENIES SENDING PAPERS TO CONGRESSMEN

Fred K. Makino, who has brought suit against the Hawaiian Sugar Planters' Association for $50,000, claiming damages due as a result of his treatment during the strike more than five years ago, denied today a report coming from San Francisco that printed copies of his complaints had been sent to every member of the congressional party.

"I have had copies of the complaint and the traverse to their answer printed, but not to send to the congressmen nor did I send them," said Makino today. "After the suit is over I expect to send these printed copies and other printed copies of documents in the suit to the congressmen. I have sent a few to Japan."

"There was some talk of asking that the suit be tried while the congressmen were here but I thought that would be unfair. As to the statement that my suit has caused uneasiness among the Japanese here that is untrue, with the exception perhaps of Japanese who were in the fight against me."

Americans Purchase Danish Steamer.
 The American Transatlantic Company of New York is reported to have purchased through the American consul-general in Copenhagen the Danish steamer Gotland, now lying at Buenos Ayres, and to be negotiating for other Danish steamers. The Gotland is a vessel of 2128 tons.

New Tanker Ready Soon.

The new tanker 'Kanawha, launched a few weeks ago at Mare Island navy yard, will be placed in full commission by the navy department today. It will be a couple of weeks before the Maumee, the sister ship, will be fully completed and ready for heavy duty.

"What does 'Exit' mean, mamma?" asked small Edna, pointing to the word over the door of a moving picture theater.

"I know!" exclaimed her little brother. "It means the entrance out."

SHINYO STEAMER LURLINE BRINGS A BIG HERD OF DAIRY COWS

GETS AWAY THIS MORNING

The Shinyo Maru steamed to San Francisco at 9 o'clock this morning, taking mail and a few lay-over passengers.

Port officials and shipping men were well pleased to welcome J. P. Bourne, purser in the Shinyo Maru office. Bourne is rated as one of the most popular officials in the T. K. K. service. For the last year he has been identified with the Nippon Maru. That he has been elevated to a more responsible position is a matter of gratification to his best of friends among transpacific travelers and those at the several ports of call. It is reported that H. G. Grasett, former purser in the Shinyo, would be offered a berth in the Nippon.

The Shinyo brought 12 cabin, nine second-class and 216 Asiatic steerage passengers to Honolulu. Proceeding through to the Coast are 126 cabin, 43 second-class and more than 200 Asiatic passengers. About 1000 tons of cargo were discharged at this port. The vessel carries in transit ship valued at more than $500,000. Capt. W. C. T. S. Filmer reported favorable weather.

MILLIONS OF GALLONS OF OIL FOR FAR EAST

Many million gallons of kerosene oil are en route from the southern coast of the United States to the Far East in the British tankers Natica and Cassis, which yesterday visited Honolulu for fuel.

The Natica from Port Arthur, Texas, was brought into the harbor Sunday evening. Capt. R. W. Thompson reported steaming from Great Britain early in April. The vessel was supplied with about 5000 tons of oil. It received minor repairs to machinery here and proceeded to the Orient.

As the Natica passed through the channel the sister ship Cassis, with an equal amount of oil, was brought to Pier 17 to take 400 tons of oil as fuel, preparatory to steaming to Yokohama last evening.

SHINYO NOTABLES

Among the passengers who passed through Honolulu on the Shinyo Maru for the mainland were:
 Judge J. S. Powell of the first court of instance of Iloilo returns to his old home in Georgia.

Dr. David M. Roberg of Portland, Ore., returns after having spent some time in the Philippine islands studying tropical diseases. He was sent out to the islands by the state board of health of Oregon for that purpose and is to take up duties as expert on tropical diseases for the state board upon his return.

H. M. Robertson of the International Banking Corporation of the Philippine Islands is on his way to England. M. Ogino, manager of the Furukawa Mining Company, is on a visit to the states and will return to Japan by the way of Europe.

R. Nakai, an official of the Department of Agriculture and Commerce, is on his way to the States for a pleasure trip.

S. Tanano, engineer in chief of the Department of Communications, is on a visit to the States.

K. Sugawa, one of the most prominent silk merchants of Yokohama, is on a business trip to New York.

S. Orite, a representative of the Yamashita S. S. Company, is on a business and pleasure trip to the States.

H. Yoshida, a Japanese merchant of Passengers homeward-bound on the Matsun steamship Lurline, an arrival from the coast today, were loud in their praise of the Hawaii exhibit at the fair. Of the 25 passengers, more than one-half were Honoluluans returning from the exposition.

"Bess, the pride of California," is a cow and she and her 22 sisters occupied the main deck. Today they will parade through the city bound for Charles Lucas' dairy.

After a long absence from the city, Mrs. M. MacDonald of the MacDonald hotel, Punahou street, returned on the steamer today. J. W. Bergstrom was another local man to arrive this morning. A. N. Campbell, treasurer for the Waterhouse Trust Company, and family were among the Lurline's passengers.

R. G. Moore, superintendent of Lewers & Cooke's lumber yard, and Mrs. Moore returned on the ship after a tour of the mainland and a visit at the exposition.

J. C. Young, head of the Construction, Ice & Cold Storage Company of Sacramento, accompanied by Mrs. Young, arrived and according to present plans will return on the Lurline to the coast next Tuesday.

"We had a fine trip," said Purser P. H. Levey on arrival, "and the passengers appeared to enjoy the unusually good weather."

HARBOR NOTES

The Lurline's mail was light today, only 84 bags being carried.

The American steamer Yucatan sails today for Melbourne and Sydney with bunker coal and fuel oil.

The steerage of the Lurline presented a lonely aspect when that steamer came into the local harbor this morning. Five disconsolate men comprised the entire steerage passenger list.

San Francisco, returns after having made a visit to his native land.

T. Omura, M. D., is on his way to Stanford university, there to resume his studies in medicine.

K. Hagiwara and Mr. T. Tsurumaki, are examiners of the fine arts exhibit at the P.-P. I. E. They will remain some time in San Francisco. They are educators in the Higher Technical School of Kyoto.
